Tea. In afternoon tea at Tim Barry. Tuttle, Junior De la Barrera Tubel, Linarita Durnbo, said to be engaged to De la Barrera. Some ride discussion of Treaty.

Jan. 25 (Sat.) City of Mex.
Treaty: Saw Junior and he reported that Durnbo worked data from Dept. Agriculture.

Jan 26 (Sun.) City of Mex.
Junior took Tuttle, Tubel and I on trip past El Peñon Viejo and nearly encircling valley to pyramids of Teotihuacan + back to Chalco de Venta de Carpio where we looked over ducks in a slough several miles in length and a mile across.

Jan-26 cm

El Presa Vejo: At the same lagoon where two years ago I found many thousands of ducks we saw a very few - although conditions look very good now. The area is said to have passed into the hands of agraristas and the water is lower but conditions look good as there is still a broad expanse of water and the shores are lined with mixed vegetation. Very few ducks said to visit the place now.

Pintail: Three, 1 male and 1 ♀ in one place and four, mainly ♀♀ in another.

Pyramids of Teotihuacan: Visited in making a general round of the Feb. 9. Laguna de Tulija to Cuidad de Mex.

Up at 5 A.M. and away at before daylight with Mr. Sanborn (Don Pancho) and Dick Noland, Arthur and I as yesterday in original boat. Crossed far down through lakes and returned to landing about 1 3 PM. & left for Mexico. arriving in about 7 PM.

Landscape teal. By far most abundant, while hidden in patches of round lilies (Scirpus) bunches of teal apparently from farther out of lagoon came by us in groups varying from a few to hundreds for about an hour, during which time they were scarcely out of sight. Finally some came down near us and united with green-winged teal swam or drifted along to very close to us – about 40 yards. These teal far out-numbered all other ducks combined on this lagoon.

Feb. 9 con.

Green-winged Teal. Hundreds mixed with larger numbers of cinnamon teal swam a drifted up to within 40 yards of where we were partially concealed in a patch of cattails. Many had their heads under their wings and were evidently resting. ~~They had flown from the direction~~

Spoonbill. Common in small flocks. A single male was seen with his head under his wing resting with a flock made up of cinnamon and green-winged teal.

Anas diazi. These ducks here

Feb. 9 con.

kept to the inlets while most of the other species were out on open water. They usually divide into small groups of a few individuals and were flushed around inlets from small open water areas among the inlets, while only a few were seen at a time they must aggregate a thousand or more on the lagoon as a whole.

Lesser scaup. In hundreds on open parts of the lagoon, seen associated in places with widgeons and cinnamon teal. Second to cinnamon teal in point of numbers. With several hunters scattered through lagoon, groups of varying size up to hundreds in flight.

Laguna de Tallenjo. About 6 miles long and a mile wide,
